

Valuing residents for who they are, what they have accomplished, and what they have yet to contribute

A LIFE-AFFIRMING PROGRAM

The Woodlands Memory Support Neighborhood is a specialized, residential community designed to enrich the lives of those who have memory challenges, including Alzheimer's disease. Through innovative care and engaging daily life experiences, we promote health and well-being, protect safety and security, and foster a greater sense of belonging in the people we serve.

A PLACE AS UNIQUE AS THE NEED

Inspired by the growing need for specialty care of people affected by Alzheimer's disease and dementia, Springhill's board of governors, residents, associates, and friends pledged to complete Springhill's continuum of care. As a result of their extraordinary generosity and commitment, The Woodlands Memory Support Neighborhood opened in 2010, and now provides life-enhancing care and support for people who face memory challenges, as well as their families.

THE WOODLANDS MEMORY SUPPORT NEIGHBORHOOD

at ForestView Health Care Center

INDIVIDUALIZED, PERSON-CENTERED CARE

At The Woodlands, our philosophy of care centers on the fundamental belief that people with dementia are able to experience personal joy, comfort, and meaning in their lives. We provide attentive care with careful consideration for each individual's privacy, dignity, and choice.

With input from the resident, family, and staff, we develop a specialized care plan tailored to your loved one. To help maximize his or her potential, our dedicated staff will seek out unique personality traits, interests, and experiences in order to create and sustain a rich and engaging living environment. The care plan addresses every facet of personal wellness, including physical, emotional, social, vocational, spiritual and intellectual aspects, and will be modified as necessary to accommodate changing needs.

DEDICATED, CARING PROFESSIONALS

Our compassionate staff members are specially trained to interact with and support people who have memory challenges. Dedicated exclusively to The Woodlands, these caregivers become familiar faces, providing comfort and security to residents and becoming part of a resident's extended family. Staff members may also serve as a resource to family and friends and encourage participation in the programs and events taking place in The Woodlands.

A SECURE, HOME-LIKE ENVIRONMENT

At The Woodlands, your loved one will benefit from a warm, welcoming environment designed to encourage social interaction while also enabling independent exploration. Each day, residents gather by the living room hearth or in an inviting lounge for stimulating and structured therapeutic activities that promote interests, participation, and a sense of belonging. Delicious meals are served in the dining area from the neighborhood's spacious, family-style kitchen.

When your loved one desires privacy, he or she can retreat to a comfortable and beautifully decorated private room with space for family pictures and personal mementos. With encouragement and the use of memory cues, residents can confidently and safely explore the neighborhood as they wish, including beautifully landscaped secure courtyards and sensory gardens which provide essential outdoor recreation with beautiful views of the Springhill campus.
