Dear Springhill ForestView Health Care Center Residents & Families and/or Resident Representatives:

As the global COVID-19 pandemic continues to unfold, we want to assure you that the ForestView Health Care Center at Springhill is continuing its extraordinary efforts in maintaining the highest standards to ensure the safety and care of all residents and associates. Infection control protocols, consistent with the Centers for Disease Control & Prevention (CDC) guidelines, have been implemented to reduce the risk of transmission of the virus. We understand some of these measures are inconvenient, and we appreciate your ongoing understanding and support.

We have been sharing information about measures implemented, as well as updates and highlights of activities with residents and associates, on the Asbury website and the Springhill Facebook page. Highlights of measures include:

- We are restricting visitation, but allowing and accommodating essential visits, while supporting electronic communication with loved ones.
- We are screening anyone entering our campus consistent with CDC and Health Department guidelines, including taking temperatures. Any associate meeting screening criteria (some of which are more stringent than the current CDC guidance) cannot return to work until they are cleared.
- We have increased housekeeping daily cleaning routines, particularly in high traffic areas, using cleaning agents that are recommended by the CDC.
- We have suspended all group activities, including closing congregate dining. However, we are still delivering therapy and activities as appropriate to individual residents, while respecting physical distancing or other protective recommendations.
- We use and distribute personal protective equipment (PPE) to our associates according to CDC and State Department of Health guidelines based on resident conditions.
- All testing for COVID-19 is predicated on the guidance and availability of testing resources from the County Department of Health and Human Services, and as ordered by the resident's physician. We are in regular communication with the Health Department as they guide, obtain materials and provide results of COVID-19 testing for residents.
- We place residents returning from a hospitalization on a 14-day quarantine to monitor for any evidence of previous exposure to a respiratory illness. We also exercise heightened infection control protocols for residents who are in quarantine.
- We consider every resident who begins to present any symptoms of a respiratory illness as a Person Under Investigation (PUI), and they are placed on isolation precautions until they are cleared as per CDC and Health Department guidance.
